Types of houses in Great Britain

- 1. A detached house (a house not joined to another house).
- 2. A semi-detached house (two houses joined together).
- 3. A terraced house (several houses joined together).
- 4. A block of flats
- 5. A cottage.

A detached house (дом, стоящий отдельно)

“Detached” means not connected on any side with any other building. Many British people think that a detached house is the best type of house to live in.

A semi - detached house

(два соединённых вместе дома)

A semi – detached house is a pair of joined houses.

A semi-detached house is the most popular type of home in England (more than 27% of all homes).

A terraced house (ряд из несколько домов)

A terraced house is one of a row of similar houses joined together by their side walls.

A cottage

The cottage is a lovely small house located outside the city, with a land plot (a garden).

A block of flats

A block of flats is a large building that has a lot of flats where people live.

Образец

Hi, I'm Erik. I'm fifteen. I live with my parents in a small town in the South-East of England. We have a semi-detached house. I would like to tell you some things about this house. It isn't a big house. There are 2 floors. There is a kitchen, a living room, a bathroom and a bedroom downstairs. There is my bedroom with its bathroom and playroom upstairs. The kitchen has several cupboards, a washing machine, a fridge and a cooker. There are two armchairs, a sofa, a table, a mirror and a fireplace in the living room.

A playroom has a warm and cozy atmosphere. There are a lot of books and toys.

There is a garden in front of our house. You can see beautiful flowers there.
