

A photograph of a forest fire. Large, bright orange and yellow flames are rising from the ground, with thick white smoke billowing upwards. The fire is consuming the forest floor and lower branches of trees. In the foreground, several tall, thin evergreen trees stand, some with green needles and others with bare branches. The background is filled with more trees, some of which are partially obscured by the fire and smoke. The overall scene is dramatic and dangerous.

БЕРЕГИТЕ ЛЕС

ОТ ПОЖАРА

