January is the 1st month.
It has 31 days.

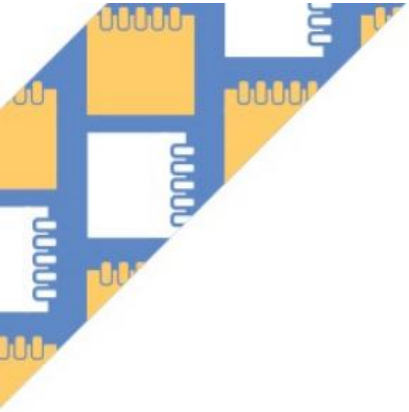

A blue calendar for the month of January is displayed. The calendar is a grid with 5 rows and 7 columns. The days of the month are numbered in orange. The first row contains days 1 through 7. The second row contains days 8 through 14. The third row contains days 15 through 21. The fourth row contains days 22 through 28. The fifth row contains days 29, 30, and 31, with the remaining two columns being empty. The calendar is set against a background of overlapping, slightly blurred calendars showing various dates and days of the week.
