

Burmistr

Story of violence and injustice
By Ivan Sergeevich Turgenev

A black silhouette of a man in historical clothing, including a long coat and a hat, standing in a field of tall grass. The man is facing right. The text is overlaid on the lower half of the silhouette.

Burmistr - historically - manage the land estate
or the elder,

..... And I even knowing all my dislike for him and bias to his actions .I couldn't imagine that....

....This anger with the hypocrisy , bragging, it all make it soo obvious, that he's just a bastard with fine tastes

A man in a military uniform, wearing a brown peaked cap and a grey double-breasted tunic with dark buttons, stands in the foreground. He has a serious expression and is looking slightly to the right. His right hand is partially visible, resting near his waist. The background is a desaturated, sepia-toned photograph of a village street. In the distance, there are buildings, including a large barn-like structure, and several horse-drawn carriages. The overall atmosphere is somber and historical.

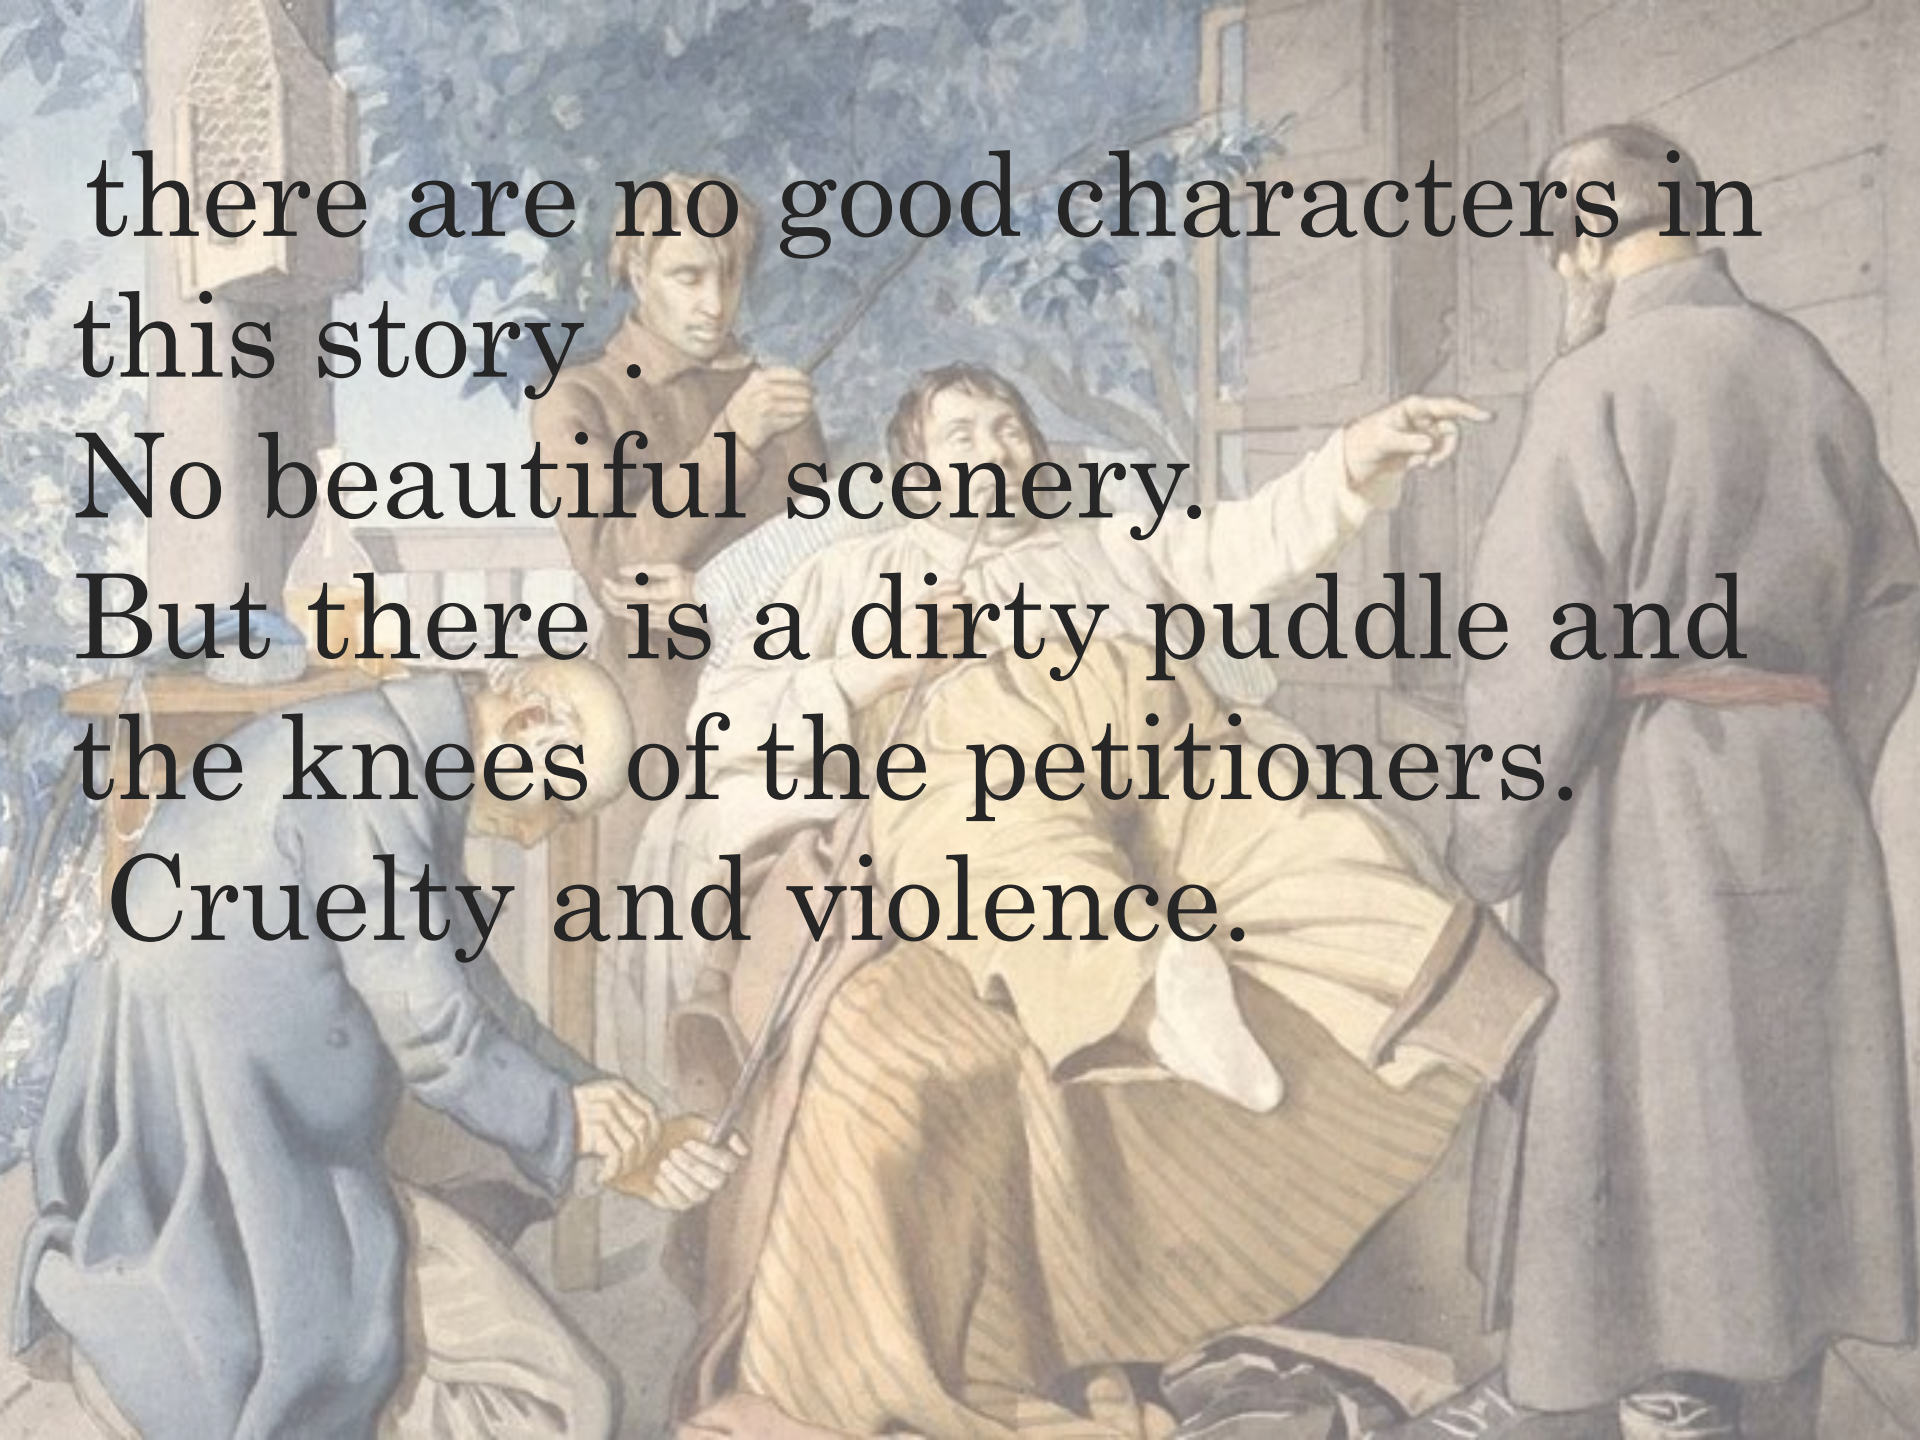

..... Although in reality he was just stupid , easily influenced and feels his absolute power over the lives of others....

there are no good characters in this story .

No beautiful scenery.

But there is a dirty puddle and the knees of the petitioners.

Cruelty and violence.

Illustrations by Marta Belchikova

Text by Marta Belchikova