Kangaroos are from the order of animals called marsupial mammals

- ▶ Kangaroos are native to Australia.

- ▶ Kangaroos have large, powerful hind legs, large feet adapted for jumping, a long, massive tail for balance, and a small head.
- ▶ Like most marsupials(Сумчатые), female kangaroos have a pouch(Мешочек), called a bag, in which the young complete postpartum development.

- ▶ The kangaroo is a symbol of Australia and is present on the Australian coat of arms and on some of the country's banknotes and is used by some well-known Australian organizations.

- ▶ Wild kangaroos are hunted for meat, skin, and pasture protection. Although the usefulness of kangaroo meat is controversial, it is perceived as beneficial to human health (compared to other traditional meats) due to its low fat content.
